

DISCOVER HELSTON

Situated at the head of the Lizard Peninsula, Helston (Hellys in Cornish) is a historic market town in West Cornwall and one of the county's oldest. It's known for its traditional granite buildings, open water channels called 'kennels' that run along many streets, and the famous Flora Day dance - an ancient spring festival.

- Opes & Footpaths
- Town Centre
- Parks & Green Spaces
- Drill Hall Yard
- Toilets
- Car Parks
- Bus Stops
- Drill Hall Yard Steps (Museum hours only)
- WW1 Monument
- The Basement & Tide Climbing
- Helston Old Chapel
- Boots Pharmacy
- Superdrug
- Flora Cinema
- CAST Art Centre
- Museum of Cornish Life
- Guildhall
- Post Office
- Epworth Hall
- Grylls Monument
- Blue Anchor
- Helston Library
- Old Cattle Market

Walking Around Helston

The countryside around Helston is an amazing area to explore. Walks to the nearby coast, around Loe Pool or deep into the valleys and hills which wrap around the town provide great views, abundant nature and glimpses of the ancient heritage of South West Cornwall.

- Walk through the Cober Valley to Lowertown & Coverack Bridges
- Walk through the Penrose Estate and around Loe Pool to Porthleven

Scan the QR code to link to our website and discover a multitude of walks, rides and interesting activities in the area

Map commissioned and funded by Helston Community Interest Company

Original map design: awilkinsondesign@outlook.com
© Adam Wilkinson & Helston CIC 2025